

Invited Speaker

Michael P. Sheetz

Executive Director, Research Centre of Excellence in Mechanobiology, National University of Singapore, Singapore and Professor, Department of Biological Sciences, Columbia University, USA

Michael P. Sheetz is currently Director of the Research Centre of Excellence in Mechanobiology at the National University of Singapore. He is also appointed the William R. Kenan Jr. Professor of Biological Sciences at Columbia University, USA and is Co-Director of the Nanotechnology Center for Mechanics in Regenerative Medicine, USA. He holds a joint appointment in Biomedical Engineering at Columbia. Prior to joining Columbia, he was Chair of Cell Biology at Duke University Medical Center. His Ph.D. was in Chemistry at California Institute of Technology (Caltech), USA and he served as a postdoctoral fellow with Dr. S. Jon Singer of the University of California, San Diego, USA.